DOCKING/GAS

Spa Creek

If you want to stay close to downtown, walking distance to Annapolis Yacht Club and City Dock area, there are two marinas outside of the bridge that accept transients. Annapolis City Marina, which you'll find by its bright red fuel dock building and has some supplies and light grocery items. The Yacht Basin is next to the Marriott, also has a fuel dock, and can accommodate boats to 240 feet. Petrini Shipyard and Sarles (South Annapolis Yacht Center) are on the other side of Spa Creek drawbridge. The bridge monitors Ch. 13.

Back Creek

The first stop on the north side of the creek is Horn Point Harbor Marina, which has a few transient slips, and a great view of the Bay. Just past Horn Point and the Annapolis Maritime Museum is Eastport Yacht Center, a full-service yard with transient space available. Mears Marina is the last transient-friendly marina on north side of creek. A resort marina, Mears has tennis courts, a pool and dock bar. Moving to the south side of the creek, just across from Mears, you'll find Annapolis Landing Marina. Here you'll find the creek's only fuel dock, a small restaurant and a pool. Next up on the south side is Port Annapolis Marina, which has a pool, marine store, cafe, a pavilion area, and also offers full-service repairs and boatyard facilities. And finally, Bert Jabin's Yacht Yard, which occupies nearly the rest of the south side of Back Creek. This is a full-service, working boatyard.

Shore-side off of Back Creek, about a 1.5 miles up the road, are West Marine, Fawcett marine supplies (which is more sailor-friendly), Giant supermarket, liquor store, Rocco's pizza, and a few other favorite places.
